

Because We Care

Quality care for older Australians

Saturday, 16 April 2011, 2.30 - 4.30
Blackburns Family Hotel
15 Parke St. Katoomba

Ged Kearney, President of the ACTU

"Quality Aged Care benefits all those who receive care, will need care in the future, entrust the care of family to the aged care industry, work as aged care professionals and need support to provide unpaid care at home. The recent release of the Productivity Commission's draft report "Caring for Older Australians" recognises that inferior Aged Care services are a burden on the Australian people and economy but underestimates the importance of those factors which put the "Quality" into Aged Care, the people, the resources and accountability."

Other speakers are:

Stella Topaz, Shirley Ross-Shuley and Annette Peters.

Stella Topaz, from the NSW Nurses Association, will talk about the work of the Quality Aged Care Action Group (QACAG) Inc. which is made up of people from many interests and backgrounds brought together by common concerns about the quality of care for people in aged care.

Shirley Ross-Shuley is a Nurse Educator and Annette Peters is a Registered Nurse. They are both Blue Mountains locals who will share their perspective from working "at the coal face" in Aged Care.
