Power, Guns 'n Money

Privatising power to shoot in the parks

3pm Saturday, June 30 2012
Blackburn's Family Hotel 15 Parke St. Katoomba

Speakers

- Mark Lennon (Secretary of Unions NSW) and
- Lachlan Garland (President of Blue Mountains Conservation Society)

Blue Mountains residents are being warned to brace themselves for further big jumps in their electricity bills and black outs, following the O'Farrell Government's decision to further privatise the NSW power industry.

"The experience of power privatisation interstate has been higher prices and disrupted energy supply."
Mark Lennon – Secretary Unions NSW

"National Parks were created for nature conservation, not as private shooting galleries".

Lachlan Garland President of Blue Mountains Conservation Society

"Including the rises scheduled for July 1, the average NSW power bill will have gone up by more than 70 per cent over the past six years, on top of inflation. Only 8 per cent of that rise is due to the carbon price."

Lenore Taylor Sydney Morning Herald Saturday June 9 2012

"Hunting will be seen in 79 of the state's national parks as part of a deal struck by the government last night in exchange for the sale of the state electricity generators."

Amy Taylor-Kabbaz ABC Radio May 31 2012
